

Deed and Chain of Title Researchers Needed

The Hyattsville CDC is seeking two to three part-time, limited-term researchers for Phase 1 of its Mapping Racism program.

Project Background

Via its Mapping Racism Program HCDC is conducting the comprehensive deed research necessary to identify, map, and archive the inventory of properties with racially restrictive covenants attached to their deeds within the City of Hyattsville. The project is being conducted in phases. This phase, Phase 1 is comprised of conducting, documenting, and inventorying title searches within databases in preparation of integration with GIS mapping tools.

Compensation: $16.50 - $20.00 per hour based upon speed and experience.

Qualifications:

- Demonstrated experience with deed and title searches or multi-sourced internet-based historical research is required.
- Demonstrated ability to work in a cloud-supported database and information storage platform is required.
- Demonstrated competency with Excel and Google Sheets is required.
- The ability to retrieve, interpret, and employ subdivision plat maps and internet-based GIS mapping platforms (such as PGAtlas.com) to sort and delineate the evolution of property descriptions due to actual transactions and re-subdivision is required.

Please submit a resume and your availability to participate in a preliminary phone interview should your qualifications meet Hyattsville CDC's requirements electronically to Stuart Eisenberg: eisenberg@hyattsvillecdc.org.
